

From: Supermicro <marketing@supermicro.com>
To: Support | HighTech Nordic <support@hightechnordic.com>
Subject: Sustainable AI: Tips on reducing carbon emissions
Date: 06.06.2023 05:15:47 (+02:00)

View in browser

Sustainable AI: Making a smaller carbon footprint

626,000 pounds of carbon dioxide.

That's the total amount produced from training one large AI model, which is the same as five cars in their lifetimes, according to researchers at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.¹

With this in mind, how can we do our part in achieving sustainable AI?

Read on to learn more about tips to reduce AI training's environmental impact:

Read more

¹: Strubell, E., Ganesh, A., MacCallum A. Energy and Policy Considerations for Deep Learning in NLP. 2019. <https://arxiv.org/abs/1906.02243>

Supermicro®, 980 Rock Avenue, San Jose, California 95131

Manage preferences

